Sticks and Stones Exposed: The Power of Words in Relationships

Logan Weber is taking the world of motivational speaking by STORM for corporate and education audiences! Son of Dave Weber, he delivers great content in a high-energy, entertaining style that audiences know and love! He is passionate about positively influencing others and teaching strategies for personal success, leadership, culture, and climate change.

Please join us for an evening of fun and learning! First, Milan student leaders will present about their initiatives this year in Milan schools and their community. Then parents will join Logan Weber and enjoy his energetic and engaging presentation about how our words affect our relationships with others, including our children. Children will be treated to a night of games and fun in the gym!
